A STOCKING FULL OF JOY. All dressed up in a big, red stocking with some place to go is Tina Marie Pennington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Pennington of 1315 Center St., Wellsville, who was born at 4:59 a.m. Thursday. Mrs. Dorothy Cline holds Tina Marie as Mrs. Dorothy Glynn looks on. They are nurses in the Obstetrical Department at City Hospital and conceived the idea of taking new-born babies to their mothers Saturday morning at 9 in the stockings for their first feeding as a special Christmas treat. The stockings were made by Mrs. Otis Green of 774 Dresden Ave., mother of Mrs. Cline.

Leaves No Doubt He Had Viet Nam In Mind

Pope Urges Just, Sincere Talks To Restore Order And Friendship

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI did not mention any country or belligerents in calling for "just and sincere negotiation to restore order and friendship" in his annual Christmas message Thursday night, but he left no doubt he had Viet Nam in mind.

The spiritual leader of the world's half-billion Roman Catholics often does not use such specifics in his statements. Several considerations induce him to speak in general terms.

It is felt at the Vatican that by using specific references sparingly, the pontiff can exert far greater impact on occasions when he feels that a precise and blunt reference is needed.

He referred to Viet Nam by name when he called for a Christmas truce last Sunday.

The papacy strives for neutrality in political disputes. It tries to avoid any impression of favoring or opposing one side on political grounds.

The Vatican does not want to give any side in a dispute any propaganda opportunities to claim Vatican support, whether moral or political, by seizing on names the Pope might voice.

If there should be any doubts about what or whom the Pope means in some of his speeches, Vatican sources can usually be counted on to spell it out privately.

These considerations are reflected in the Pope's Christmas message.

"Peace is, in fact, the first and chief good of any society," he said. "It is based on justice, freedom and order; it opens the way to every other value in human life."

"And so now, at this very moment, we are making a new plea for peace — and this, not simply because peace is a good thing in itself, but also because it is a good which is in danger today."

"Fresh schemes, which the tragic experiences of the last war had given rise to, are now joined by old and deep-rooted nationalistic tendencies, along with newer ideologies of subversion and domination.

"Arms, ever more powerful and dreadful, become, as it were, the only guarantee of a treacherous and precarious peace, to the detriment of a sense of justice and human brotherhood among peoples."

"No one ought to set about disturbing the peace of others by means of underhanded schemes and contrived disorder. No one ought to force his neighbor, and today we are all neighbors, to resort to armed defense. And no one ought to shirk just and sincere negotiation to restore order and friendship."

At Texas Ranch With Family

President Ready To Open Presents

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, still ploughing through accumulated paper work, was ready to open Christmas gifts with his family tonight.

Traditionally, the Johnsons set aside Christmas Eve to open gifts exchanged within the family. None of the gifts was announced in advance.

The President, his wife and two daughters actually got off to a running start on the holiday, driving Thursday night to his renovated boyhood home here, 15 miles east of the LBJ ranch, to hear Christmas carols sung by the combined choirs of the town's three churches—First Christian, Methodist and Baptist.

Except for the chief executive, the family did better than listen. Wife Lady Bird sang heartily throughout the occasion —as she sat beside her husband on a wicker porch swing at the 19th century dwelling—and daughters Lynda, 21, and Luci, 18, joined the choirs before the serenade was over.

Johnson, dressed very conservatively and looking a bit dour upon arrival, warmed at the sight of his neighbors—more than 50 strong—assembled to greet him with traditional Christmas tunes.

Before the after-dark affair was over, he hoisted in his arms the 11-month-old daughter of the choral director and, though she tweaked his nose—or perhaps because of that, made believe he was going to carry her away in his waiting sedan.

But the 5-year-old sister of the infant didn't like this idea and she chased after the President, tugging at his trouser leg.

"If that's the way you feel about it..." exclaimed Johnson with mock seriousness, then handed the baby back to the mother, the wife of the Rev. Carl Taylor, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Nearly one in every six inhabitants of Johnson City—population 611—was on hand for the occasion.

When the singers had completed their concert, the Johnsons heard the Rev. Mr. Taylor announce:

"Merry Christmas to the presidential family from all of us in Johnson City."

Mrs. Johnson rose from the porch swing and, clapping her hands, said: "Oh, we thank you. That was so lovely."

Within minutes, Mrs. Johnson announced that hot chocolate and cookies would be served to everyone. Luci began pouring the chocolate and the First Lady made her way through the group with cookie trays. Lynda passed a holiday-decorated wicker basket filled with candies.

Reds Announce On Radio They Won't Fire During Truce

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The armed might of America and its allies in Viet Nam was put under wraps today to start a 30-hour Christmas cease-fire. The Communists said they would observe the truce for 12 hours.

The truce orders went to infantrymen in the jungles, to Air Force units that had been striking in both North and South Viet Nam and to 7th Fleet carriers plying the South China Sea in support of the ballooning war effort.

The truce went into effect at 6 p.m., which was 5 a.m. Eastern Standard Time.

The Communist Viet Cong announced three times on their radio today that they would undertake no offensive action or acts of terrorism from Christmas Eve, one hour after the Allied cease-fire started, until 7 a.m. Saturday, 17 hours before the U.S.-South Vietnamese truce period ends.

The Viet Cong had offered their 12-hour truce in a broadcast Dec. 7. The Americans and the South Vietnamese countered with their longer cease-fire order earlier this week.

It remained to be seen if the truce worked. But around the (Turn to VIET NAM, Page 3)

Yule Greeting 'Wired' Home By Sgt. Smith

Holiday greetings in the form of a telegram were received Thursday by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Potts of 255 Carolina Ave., Chester, from their son, Sgt. George Smith, who remains in Okinawa following his release last month by the Viet Cong.

"Merry Christmas and Happy New Year" was the extent of the message, with no additional word on when the homecoming of the sergeant will take place, the soldier's mother said this morning.

Mrs. Potts, who contacted the Pentagon in Washington upon receiving the telegram in the afternoon after returning from work at the National Church Supply Co., said the spokesman there had no further information to offer.

She did learn, however, that the wife of the other soldier released with Sgt. Smith, Spec. 5 Donald McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn., had received a similar telegram from her husband.

"Although we are disappointed that he won't be home for Christmas, we are thankful that he is away from the Viet Cong," Mrs. Potts said.

Hope Writes . . . Of Thailand For GOP

By BOB HOPE
Special To The Review
BANGKOK, Thailand — Before our "Far East Follies" troupe takes off to do shows at Korat, Tachli and other bases in the area, we took a little time out from rehearsing for some sight-seeing in this fantastic city.

The traffic here is really something. It's the first time I've ever seen cops praying. You can get a Purple Heart just crossing the street. How the population reached 3 million I'll never know.

A MUST for visitors here is a trip on the canals, or the "Klong" as the Thais call it. Thousands of Thai families live their whole lives on houseboats. They buy what they need from little floating markets.

LISBON — An appeal is being weighed by Russell Phillis, discharged Columbiana County Home superintendent whose firing has been upheld by the Ohio Personnel Board of Review.

The board announced its decision Thursday affirming the removal of Phillis from the county post by the county commissioners Oct. 5 for improper performance of duties.

Phillis and his attorneys — G. William Brokaw of East Liverpool and Howard Cole of Lisbon — said today they plan to wait until next week before deciding on whether or not to appeal the board's ruling.

Phillis has 15 days in which to file an appeal.

The commissioners received Thursday a letter from Earl Allison, chairman of the board, listing the ruling concerning Phillis, who Commissioners Max Gard and Frank Wilson cited on nine counts of improper performance of duties, including intoxication and abuse of residents of the home. The letter read:

"After careful consideration of all the evidence adduced at the hearing of the appeal of Russell V. Phillis from the order of the Columbiana County commissioners, removing him from the position of superintendent of the County Home, the State Personnel Board of Review affirms the order of removal filed against him."

Some 30 persons testified during the hearings at which Phillis denied the charges.

Council Holds Meeting

Tax Cut Due In Midland; Drive For Doctor Pushed

Property owners in Midland have been assured they can expect a tax cut of two mills next year.

The word came Thursday night from Mayor Eli G. Corak during the meeting of borough Council.

In other action, the legislators pressed plans for finding a physician to replace Dr. Constance Mourat.

Discussing the proposed property tax reduction, Corak told Council "a check of the borough budget and a close watch on spending will make the cut possible." He said an ordinance approving the slash is scheduled to be presented in February or March.

"The property tax action will coincide with the recent two-mill cut in the wage tax passed in November as Council continues its efforts to serve the people of Midland in the best possible way with the least amount of cost," the legislators commented.

In its efforts to replace Dr. Mourat, Council authorized the placing of advertisements in newspapers.

Truce Halts Fighting In Viet Conflict

U.S. Cease-Fire To Last 30 Hours, 12 On Reds' Side

By The Associated Press
As the Christian world prepared today to observe Christmas, war and tension once more marred the celebration of the birth of the Prince of Peace.

In Viet Nam, both the United States and its allies on one side and the Communists on the other announced the start of a Christmas truce—30 hours on the American side and 12 on the Communist. But the 24 hours before were as bloody as ever, and U.S. officials expected the war to resume in full violence after midnight Christmas.

Barring a sudden unexpected turn in the weather, there is no likelihood of a "White Christmas" Saturday.

India and Pakistan stood entrenched in hostile positions along their border, deadlocked in the Kashmir dispute. India also confronted the menace of Communist China, whose border troops have been involved in recent shooting incidents with Indian patrols.

Unrest and fear still stalked the streets of Santo Domingo in the wake of last April's revolt in the Dominican Republic.

Amputee, 16, Making Plans For Christmas

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — Ronnie Baker wasn't making any plans last Christmas. This year he is.

Last December doctors told Ronnie he'd die if they didn't amputate his cancerous left leg. Rather than face the operation, Ronnie 16, ran away from home.

He got as far as Flagstaff, Ariz., changed his mind, came home, and, last New Year's Eve, underwent the operation.

It was a success. Ronnie, fitted with a prosthetic leg, can walk, climb stairs, drive a car, and hold a parttime job as a painter. He has gained 30 pounds since his operation.

Doctors feel sure they eradicated all the cancer when they amputated Ronnie's leg above the knee, although they say it'll be years before they're positive. Ronnie undergoes periodic checks at a clinic.

As he helped his mother and two half-sisters decorate their Christmas tree Thursday, Ronnie laid plans.

"This year, mother," he told Mrs. Lois Eisenbeiss, 52, "I'm going to go out for New Year's Eve."

He and some friends from Monroe High School are planning a New Year's Eve party. At school he's studying horticulture, and hopes to attend Pierce Junior College in nearby Canoga Park.

"Things look a lot better, now," said Ronnie, who turned 17 last Jan. 28.

"Things are just so much brighter, now," echoed his mother. "This time we'll have a real Christmas."

Klondyke Crash Damages 2 Cars

Two cars were damaged in a collision Thursday afternoon at 1:30 on Harvey Ave. in Klondyke, police reported.

The mishap involved a 1962 four-door sedan driven by John Petyak, 67, of 1614 Park Ave. and a 1965 two-door sedan operated by Cecil E. Cook, 43, of Lisbon St., officers said.

Both autos were eastbound. The collision damaged the rear of Petyak's car and the front of Cook's auto.

Petyak told officers he halted in a line of traffic and his car was hit from the rear by Cook's. Cook reported he attempted to halt, but his auto slid and hit Petyak's.

Pittsburgh Policemen To Discuss Pay Hike

PITTSBURGH — President Joseph E. Stanek of Pittsburgh's Fraternal Order of Police says policemen will meet sometime in January to discuss a six per cent wage hike offered by the city administration.

And Richard W. Richards, president of Fire Fighters Local No. 1, said his union will "reluctantly recommend" that firemen accept the pay offer.

Both the policemen and firemen have been engaged in a lengthy dispute with the city administration over wages.

City Council is scheduled to act on the city budget, which includes the pay raise, next Monday.

$20,000 Damage Set In Pittsburgh Blaze

PITTSBURGH — Fire caused an estimated $20,000 damage to a shop on Pittsburgh's North Side Thursday night.

The fire wrecked Camille's floral and gift shop, a one-story brick structure.

David R. Bauer, operator of a nearby service station, said he heard what sounded like an explosion just before the fire erupted. The shop had closed about a half hour before.

George Beck, acting battalion fire chief, estimated the damage at $5,000 to the building and $15,000 to the contents.

Hospital Treats 5 Hurt In Varied District Mishaps

A youth hurt in a fall over an embankment and a girl nipped by a dog were among five district residents treated at City Hospital Thursday.

John Shuman, son of Kenneth Shuman of Newell, suffered an injury to the left wrist in a fall over an embankment.

Karen Reitzel, daughter of Thomas Reitzel of Lisbon St., received a slight wound on the upper lip when bitten by a dog with which she was playing.

Scott Adkins, son of Elijah Adkins of Fairview St., Chester, was treated for cuts and abrasions of the left eyelid after he fell against a coffee table.

Gary F. Coleman, son of Clair Coleman of 231 W. 3rd St., suffered injuries to fingers on his left hand when it became caught in a car door while working at The Review.

George Posey of 1741 Dakota Ave., an employee of the Ohio Valley Painting Co. of Chester, received an injury to the foot which became caught between a crane and beam while at work.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Los Angeles Dodgers broke even in their 18 National League games during 1965.

Blast Of Homemade Bomb Injures Boy, 16

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—James Borway, 16, son of Mrs. Betty Borway, was injured Thursday when a homemade bomb he was working on exploded at his home in Springfield Township.

He was reported in serious condition in Akron City Hospital. Police said the youth was packing heads of matches into a two-foot-long metal pipe when it exploded.

OGILVIE'S

Five Accidents Are Investigated

A pedestrian refused treatment after being struck by a motorbike and a LaCrosse teen-ager escaped injury when his auto was demolished on Dresden Ave. early this morning, police reported.

The two mishaps were among five reported by police Thursday and early today.

Joseph Martin, 38, refused treatment, officers said, after being struck by a motorbike operated by John Vincent D'Alesio Jr., 17, of Homestead Dr. at 5:38 p.m. at Virginia Ave. and Moose Alley. Police did not list Martin's address.

The teen-ager told officers he was headed north on Virginia Ave. at the intersection with the alley when Martin ran from the sidewalk into his path. It was impossible for him to avoid striking the man, the youth told officers.

WILLARD W. RAYL, 16, of LaCrosse was not injured, but his 1960 sedan was demolished after it struck a raised storm drain and then flipped over on its top on Dresden Ave. near the Loblaw Market at 2:10 a.m. today.

Rayl told officers he was en route into town between 40 and 45 miles an hour when the steering went out on the auto. Unable to control the small car, it went off the road, swerved back on and then went off again striking the raised drain and rolling over on its top.

Fred Wood of Westfield Rd. was a witness to the mishap, police said.

Police also were searching for a woman hit - skip motorist who struck a parked car on E. 4th St. and then turned off her lights and drove away.

The left taillight on the parked sedan of Earl Locke of 1515 Wyoming Ave. was damaged by the hit-run driver at 8:55 p.m.

Four girls told officers that a woman driving a 1963 Pontiac with a 10-day plate struck the parked car, then turned off her lights and continued without stopping.

Police identified the witnesses as Debbie Stitt of Dewey Ave. Ext., Regina Martin of 1008 Bradshaw Ave., Carol McVay of 9th Ave., LaCrosse, and Carol Flasco of Idaho Ave.

A 21-YEAR-OLD Georgian was cited for reckless driving after a mishap at 2:40 p.m. Thursday at Idaho Ave. and Olmhausen St. in which a fence, mailbox, rose bush and city street sign were damaged.

Don Edward Chaney of Brunswick was cited for a hearing Monday in Municipal Court after his auto struck the fence and mailbox of William Martin of 1694 Idaho Ave. and the rose bush of Daisy Spencer of Olmhausen St.

Chaney told police he had just unhitched his car from a trailer and "it kept going."

A collision at 7:46 p.m. Thursday at E. 5th and Walnut Sts. involved cars operated by William T. Orr, 19, of Wellsville R.D. 1 and William M. Jones, 63, of 2221 Harvey Ave.

Orr said he was attempting to make a right turn onto E. 5th St., but a taxi was blocking the curb lane. As he tried to pull around the cab, the collision occurred as Jones was pulling into the middle lane.

Judge Penalizes District Man For Drunken Driving

A West Point man was fined and jailed Thursday by County Judge Herbert Arfman for drunk driving. Three other motorists were penalized.

Frank Edward Weekley of West Point was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Allen R. Rice of Wellsville R.D. 1 and Charles Williams of New Waterford R.D. 1 were fined $15 and costs for speeding.

Cleven A. Stanley of 14 4th St., Midland, forfeited a $100 bond for lack of a driver's license.

The first successful gasoline-powered car was built by Karl Benz, of Germany, in 1885. It was a 550-pound three-wheeler reaching a speed of between eight and 10 miles an hour.

2 Men Cited In Downtown Street Brawl

A North Side man accused of fighting remains in jail and his opponent was released on bond after a brawl early this morning in the Diamond which required six police officers to break up.

Frank M. Duncan of 654 Minerva St. was released on a $32-50 bond this morning, while James Howard Anthony of 255 Drain St. remains in city jail.

Both were arrested on charges of fighting.

Duncan was treated at 2:01 a.m. at City Hospital for abrasions over the right eye and of the upper right arm after he fell into a window at the Siff Shoe Store.

The two were arrested by Patrolmen Jack Strobel and R. J. Brookes, with the assistance of Lt. Kenneth Mooney and Patrolmen William A. Devon, James W. Buckley and K. J. Montgomery.

tional medical publications, agreed to ask the assistance of the Beaver County Medical Association and the community's remaining doctors.

Corak said Dr. Mourat also is assisting the borough by talking to senior interns and explaining the advantages of setting up practice in Midland.

Meanwhile, a group of women have organized to press the drive for a physician reported today that they are being given a helping hand by some of the men of the borough.

Mrs. Ann Fichter of 364 Beaver Ave., who is spearheading the drive, says she already has signatures of more than 50 women on a petition which will be presented Council. She said more will be sought Monday in a house-to-house campaign.

Her husband, Charles Fichter, will circulate a petition at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. to enlist other men in the drive.

The petitions will be submitted to Council during its reorganization meeting Jan. 3, Mrs. Fichter said. Because of a misunderstanding, she originally had announced they would be turned over on Dec. 30.

Council will send a letter to Curtis F. Henry Jr., Beaver County health officer, requesting his attendance at the Jan. 27 meeting. Henry has been complaining about the mixture of garbage and rubbish at the Midland dump.

Council wants to review the problem to Henry and tell him of its plans for an all-purpose incinerator disposal.

Two appointments were made by Council, Les Roach being given another five-year term on the Municipal Authority and Robert Masters being given another six-year term on the Police Civil Service Commission.

The Midland Lumber Co. was authorized to replace the overhead door at the borough garage at a cost of $835. The company will install the door under the supervision of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., the borough's engineer.

Council also instructed Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri to investigate the homes of Hillcrest Manor for possible defects in gas heaters. The People's Gas Co. has called some of the heaters possible fire hazards.

Councilman Joseph D'Alesio, who is also president of United Steel Workers Local 1212, expressed his appreciation to Midland and Ohioville police for cooperating in making the annual Christmas party held at the Local building Wednesday afternoon "a success."

Jacket, Coat Stolen Within Three Hours

If the spring-like weather continues, it will be all right with Daniel Grimm of 218 E. 6th St.

Grimm was victimized twice within three hours Thursday night while in the Diamond Restaurant on Market St., he told police.

Grimm first reported that a cocoa-colored jacket valued at $18.50 was stolen while he was in the establishment between 5 and 6.

Less than three hours later, Grimm complained that a new coat he had just purchased had been stolen.

Grimm told police the coat was in a package which he left when he had to leave for a short time. When he returned, the package had disappeared.

world there were expressions of hope that it would be extended after Christmas and would pave the way to peace negotiations.

All American and Allied units were on the alert and had orders to react sharply in self defense. The American cease-fire was confined only to a prohibition against initiating any new offensive actions. Disengagements from conflict or defense against any obvious threat were clearly within the discretion of field commanders obliged to protect and preserve their men.

All branches of the Allied forces were keyed up, however, to observe what happens at the end of the Viet Cong moratorium while the American truce still was to be in effect for another 17 hours.

Officials conceded this might call for some split-second hair-line decisions.

As of midnight Christmas, however, the U.S. forces will be free to resume "normal operation," a senior Army spokesman said.

"We shall resume normal operations at 2400 hours Dec. 25 unless we are forced to do so before that," the officer said.

While the Communists repeated their announcement of a 12-hour truce, neither North Viet Nam's Hanoi radio nor the Viet Cong radio made any mention of the longer period proclaimed by the other side.

U.S. officials in Washington expected the truce to hold for the first 12 hours. They hoped the Communists would prolong it until Christmas midnight.

Judge Plays Santa, Frees 2 Prisoners

LISBON — The Christmas spirit was evident in Southwest Area County Court Thursday when Judge J. L. MacDonald released two prisoners from the County Jail for the holidays by suspending their sentences.

Judge MacDonald suspended the remaining 16 days of a term for George Kenneth House, 24, of Hanoverton R. D. 1, and reduced $50 from a fine of $150 so that he might join his wife and their three children for Christmas.

Earlier this month, House was convicted of driving while under the influence of alcohol while his driver's license was suspended. On the former charge, he was fined $150 and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. On the latter charge, he was sentenced to serve 30 days concurrently with the sentence on the first charge.

For James Moser, 24, of Guernsey R. D. 2, the Christmas spirit was willing, but his parole officer wasn't.

Although Judge MacDonald suspended the balance of a 60-day jail term for driving without an operator's license, Moser was ordered returned to a Guernsey County parole officer upon release.

Judge MacDonald said Moser's stiff sentence was ordered because he never had obtained a driver's license.

Bob Hope In Viet Nam

To the public, Bob Hope is a funnyman. That's his stock in trade. He has lasted for more than a generation because he has kept his fun clean and in good taste. And it has been mostly funny.

But the real Bob Hope is serious, considerate and generous. For years, he has sacrificed his own time and pleasures to be away from home at the Christmas season to work free in entertaining American service men at far-flung bases.

Wherever he goes on his current visit to Viet Nam, he and his troupe will be in danger. They will not visit any front lines, but anywhere in Viet Nam can be dangerous these days.

An unforeseen danger in Thailand recently brought a backstage fall and ankle sprain which was extremely painful to the comedian. But in his own words, he made light of it and cling to the tradition that "the show must go on."

The Review is happy to be able to bring to its readers Bob Hope's daily reports on his trip to Viet Nam and other Pacific bases where American service men are spending their Christmas far away from home.

We salute him for his generosity in expending such effort to entertain these away-from-home Americans. That he does entertain them there is no doubt for anyone who has seen the filmed reactions of a huge audience of GIs.

The Public Image Worshippers

The mayor-elect of New York City has been going over the budget and says his administration is starting out $412 million short of cash.

He says the deficit looming for his administration's second year in office is even larger—$600 million.

This is why many people wondered why John V. Lindsay wanted to be mayor of New York City. They thought the incumbent mayor, Robert F. Wagner, had the right idea. He refused to run.

What happens when a city, a state and a nation plunge into debt to support themselves in a style to which spenders have grown accustomed? What accounts for the credo that nothing is too good for the people collectively, even if it can't be paid for, though an individual who lives beyond his means is written off as a spendthrift?

The explanation has to be something about worshipping a public image. It has to be the same trait of human nature that has caused castles to rise from fields tilled by peasants, cathedrals to be built in the midst of slums and palatial public buildings to commemorate the vanity of despots who lorded it over poverty-stricken masses.

Nothing is too good for the public image. Whether the image is ostentation in buildings, extravagance in a royal family, or open-handed distribution of funds to the poor, it has to be done with a flourish.

Prudence is not seemly. Everything must be first class for the sake of collective prestige and hang the expense, even though individuals who live beyond their means are subject to law.

Mayor-elect Lindsay will be no exception. But as he starts his trial in New York by mayoralty fire, he could wish his predecessor had been an exception. Sometime, somehow, there will have to be a day of reckoning.

China's Old Man Mao

Mao Tse-tung, chairman of the Chinese Communist Party and dictator of the People's Republic of China, now is 73 years old, 74 by Chinese reckoning.

From all accounts, Mao is a stooped, palsied old man today, possibly suffering from Parkinson's disease. Speculation about a successor is rife. Nevertheless, to the 735 million mainland Chinese and a great many Chinese overseas this aging man is their supreme patriarch and giver of laws.

Mao was born of peasant stock in Hunan province. He began to work in his harsh father's fields at seven and developed a sympathy with poverty-ridden peasants. He received more education than might have been expected, including some at the tertiary level, and is well recognized as a Chinese classicist.

At 28, he was one of the founders of the Communist Party in Shanghai. He joined the Kuomintang of Sun Yat-sen when Communists were admitted to it in 1924, left the party in 1927 when Chiang Kai-shek kicked out the Communists, and ultimately emerged as leader of the Communist party.

Mao's followers, pressed by Kuomintang forces in October 1934, began their Long March, some 6,000 miles northward from Kiangsi to the barren lands of Shensi province.

During the Japanese war, Mao developed as a military and Marxist-Leninist theoretician. His primer on guerrilla warfare, which has since become a text book for wars of liberation, was published in 1937.

When World War II ended, Communists for a time made attempts to reach an agreement with Chiang's Kuomintang, but the civil conflict was resumed in 1946. When the Red armies crossed the Yangtze River on April 21, 1949, the end of Kuomintang rule on the mainland was in sight. Mao was elected chairman of the new central people's government in October.

Mao at his own request was replaced in 1959 as chairman of the People's Republic by Liu Shao-chi, considered his likely successor. As chairman of the Communist party, he remains as powerful a ruler as was Stalin in Soviet Russia.

Among his people, he is revered as a "living Buddha" and infallible oracle.

Mao's probably successor, Liu Shao-chi, has neither the legendary heroism of Marshal Chueh, the former warlord, nor the urbanity of Chou En-lai, Red China's premier. He has none of Mao's traits. But he has worked closely with Mao, is dependable and rates high marks as an administrator.

Ghosts Of The Past

This tale of a Christmas season many years ago may disturb many of those who are anticipating rich gifts when the President's budget is presented to Congress and the country. But the prospective recipients need not worry. The lessons from history are not studied now in the councils of the Great Society.

My story concerns what two departed statesmen, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry L. Hopkins, might say if their ghosts were to return to earth and talk with their current counterparts, Lyndon B. Johnson and Sargent Shriver, who in the odd moments when he is not running the Peace Corps is scattering the funds of the war on poverty.

I'm assuming that the ghosts in my story can read, for when they were walking among mortal men they were highly articulate individuals, and that they have noted Shriver's latest idea about spending money for the poor. This plan is called a "negative income tax."

THERE IS NOTHING negative about it. It is a positive plan to hand out cash. And it isn't a tax. It is a gift from the government. All that it has to do with taxation is the use of the income-tax schedules to determine what is given away.

The man who claims that he invented the idea is Prof. Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago. I cannot believe that Friedman was serious when he gave publicity to the idea. He is a man with a hearty sense of humor, and it's probably a sardonic joke.

But Shriver is so overloaded with the humorless jargon and psychology of the "do-gooders" that he seems to have lost the capacity to recognize a joke when he sees one.

Lending support to my idea that Friedman was joking is his reputation as a conservative. He is president-elect of the American Economic Association and helped with Goldwater's speeches in 1964.

Briefly stated, the idea is that any family that has an income under $3,000 is poor. And it does not have to pay taxes. The government, by a formula based on federal income-tax accounting, will make up the difference between what the family earns and the poverty limit of $3,000.

I use as an example a family with an income of $2,400. There are four members of the family, and so there would be a $600-exemption for each member and a flat standard deduction of another $600. But the government under the Shriver interpretation of the plan must add enough to make the family's income tote up to $3,000.

THE FAMILY already has $2,400. So the government gives it $600 to make up the difference. If the income of a family were $1,800, the government would give twice $600, or $1,200 more, and so on. (Friedman would, however, give only half the difference between the income and the $3,000.) Thus, the concept of an annual income guaranteed by government, long dreamed of by socialists, would be realized. And this would be direct relief money. Nobody would have to work to earn it.

If the head of a family had $60,000 in the bank and received only $2,400 in interest income, the family would be deemed poor. If it had land and raised its own food and the cash income were less than the $3,000, it would classify as poor. Presumably there would be no distinctions, since a needs test is regarded by the Great Society as degrading.

This is direct federal relief, and here is where the Roosevelt-Hopkins ghosts enter the story.

IN THE CHRISTMAS holidays in 1934, when the annual presidential message was being written, Mr. Roosevelt and Hopkins had decided that federal relief, even through grants to the states, had failed. They reached the decision that it should stop. And so, after great care and deliberation, the President's message said this:

"The federal government must and shall quit this business of relief."

"I'm not willing that the vitality of our people be further sapped by the giving of cash, of market baskets, of a few hours of weekly work cutting grass, raking leaves or picking up papers in the public parks. We must preserve not only the bodies of the unemployed from destitution, but also their self-respect, their self-reliance and courage and determination."

That is what Mr. Roosevelt and Hopkins decided after hastily improvised plans had been tried for more than a year and a half. That is what they said when, unlike the present, there were 11,340,000 workers unemployed. Their conclusions are in the record. L.B.J. and Shriver might learn something if they looked up the text of that old message.

Christmas Message Is Hope Of World

By John N. Adams

Twenty centuries ago, in a stable in Bethlehem, a son was born to a carpenter of Nazareth and his wife.

Since that time men have proclaimed the event a turning point in the history of the world. To Christians, God mysteriously became man in the lowly person of an itinerant teacher who was nailed to a cross at Jerusalem when a Roman governor yielded to the clamor of a riotous mob which had demanded execution.

According to the Gospels, that carpenter's son, Jesus Christ, triumphed over death and, through His teachings and example, revealed the way to eternal life. So it is that each year his followers celebrate his birth with Christmas trees, tinsel, carols, gifts and Christian devotion. It's a celebration of Christianity's faith in the promise of peace on earth, goodwill to men.

For Christians, the most convincing proof of that promise is the survival of Christ's churches and His followers. Though these churches have been splintered and divided, they remain the most durable of man's institutions.

Though Christ's followers have been persecuted by crucifixions, stonings, even being thrown to lions, their faith has endured.

AT ONE TIME, the celebration of Christmas was banned, even in England. In 1647, Oliver Cromwell and his Puritans decided people were having too good a time and put an end to the celebration. It wasn't until the reign of Charles II (1660-1685) that the ban was lifted.

In the United States, traditional Christmas customs were suppressed at first, (as in England under the Commonwealth) because of the Puritan objection to their pagan origin. But since the middle of the 19th century, the celebrations have become increasingly popular and commercialized.

Today, behind the Iron Curtain, an atheistic authoritarianism has forced many churches back to the catacombs. In the Western World, there is arising a disturbing element within the Christian churches themselves.

IN ENGLAND, in a controversial book, the author writes that "Jesus, believing himself to be the promised Messiah, schemed throughout his life to manipulate the people so that the Old Testament prophecies would be fulfilled."

According to this author, a scholar living in London, Jesus, knowing that the church had to be founded on the fulfillment of the prophecies, planned their fulfillment in the minutest detail, even arranging that he be crucified on Friday, knowing that because of the Jewish Sabbath the next day, He would be taken from the cross within a few hours, before the last spark of life expired.

The events of Passion Week are described by the writer as "a nightmarish conception and undertaking, the outcome of the frightening logic of a sick mind or a genius."

News dispatches report that the book is "disturbing" many churchmen in England.

The book is not yet in circulation in this country and the meager reviews and news accounts do not reveal whether the author explains how Jesus arranged for His birth in the Bethlehem manger; or for the Heavenly Host; or the visit of the Wise Men; or the flight into Egypt; or His confrontation with the rabbis in the temple at Jerusalem.

All of these events took place by the time He was 12 years old — hardly an age at which a boy would be plotting such things.

ANOTHER CONCERN of church leaders in Western Europe is how to evangelize "post-Christian pagans" for whom towering cathedrals are museums rather than "centers of a living faith."

The situation has reached such a state that the German philosopher and publisher Gerhard Szeczesny has felt compelled to observe that "one good salesman with a sufficient gift of gab and versed in the more recent theological adaptations might well be capable of converting the European masses to Islam."

In addition to threats from atheists and divisive forces within the church body itself, mankind's hopes for the Christmas spirit of peace on earth are beset by violence in the juvenile world. Department store toylands are filled with war toys — cannons, bazookas, model GI equipment, warplanes and battleships. Violence also is the main fare in the TV menu for children.

SOMEHOW, despite all its trials and distractions, the spirit of Christmas cannot be broken down altogether.

In East Berlin, for the third straight year, West Berliners will be permitted to visit relatives in the Communist section of that city this Christmas — an outward sign that the Red rulers, themselves, are sensitive to undercurrents of unrest among those denied freedom of worship.

Frictions and antagonisms that dominate our lives the rest of the year fade out at Christmas. The message of peace shines through.

It's not happenstance that no other life on earth has inspired more master works of art and literature, or that man enjoys the highest degree of civilization and affluence in lands where the peace message has prevailed.

That message is the inspiration for the present and the greatest hope for the future. Without it, man would be little better than the savages.

Though some may question the divinity of Christ, there's no gainsaying His life and his teachings have been and will remain the greatest influence on man the world ever has known.

This Christmas again, it is time to reaffirm our faith in the message of peace on earth and goodwill to all mankind.

Merry Christmas.

Grin And Bear It

"Breaking a n d entering! That's what I'm in for, if you must know!"

Viet Nam Truce

By David Lawrence

What's Behind Red Move?

Why have the Communists — who don't believe in Christmas — proposed for that day a truce in the fighting in Viet Nam? Is it a means of getting a longer truce, during which reinforcements could be brought up for later attacks? Will it turn out to be the start of a Korean-type armistice without a peace agreement ever being made?

The United States government came to the conclusion that it was worthwhile to test out the motives behind the offer of a truce by announcing an acceptance of it and ordering a 30-hour cease-fire. Whether the truce of the holiday celebrated throughout Christendom will be prolonged for a longer time, depends on the real purpose of the cease fire. It could be that the holiday truce has back of it a plan to bring about a lengthy parley. Up to now it has been found difficult to do this because of a desire on each side not to give the impression of weakness by initiating the negotiations.

Once there is a cease fire, however, consultations could begin in neutral capitals of the world. So the real question is whether the Communists want a longer cease fire and will be amenable to an extension while plans for negotiations are discussed.

THE UNITED STATES takes little risk in agreeing to the North Vietnamese offer. The military commanders at Saigon will keep their men on the alert even during the truce.

It could be, of course, that the Communists have about made up their minds that a Korean kind of cease fire would not be such a bad thing to try. After all, what the 1953 armistice between North and South Korea did was merely to establish a cease fire. It's still in effect, and no agreement has been reached since then on any of the vital issues — such as reunification — which were in dispute before the fighting began. No guarantee against a resumption of aggression has ever been given, and there are armies along the 38th Parallel which still stand guard, even though more than 12 years have elapsed since the fighting was interrupted by mutual consent.

So far as the United States is concerned, such a development in Viet Nam would not be wholly unpalatable because the argument used to justify American intervention is that the Communist aggression must be stopped.

IF AGGRESSION is suspended indefinitely without any pledge being given, the main objective will, in effect, have been attained for the time being. As for the Communist guerrillas who have infiltrated South Viet Nam, they probably would be forced out gradually if a lengthy cease fire were arranged.

This theory of the purpose of the cease fire may be demolished by developments after Christmas. It may turn out that the Communist idea was merely to gain time for reorganization of the military campaign but it would be difficult for the North Vietnamese leaders to convince the world they really want peace if, when given a dramatic chance to participate in a longer cease fire, they threw it away.

TO ENGAGE in a peace parley of indefinite duration without actually coming to an agreement pledging a non-aggression course would mean no loss of prestige to the North Vietnamese and at the same time would avoid the growing cost of active warfare.

Would the South Vietnamese and the United States governments be content with such a stalemate or would there be an insistence on fighting it out? There certainly would be a demand by the United States that the forces of the Communists be withdrawn, at least pending further conferences to be undertaken by the governments to whom was entrusted the task of carrying out the 1954 agreement signed in Geneva.

If an indefinite truce did materialize, it would bring satisfaction here. While it wouldn't be hailed with much joy, because at any moment fighting could be resumed, it would at least be regarded as a milestone toward a more stable situation in Southeast Asia.

Students and faculty for the semester will depart from Los Angeles Feb. 10 on the M. S. Seven Seas, the floating campus of Chapman's Seven Seas Division, to begin a 126-day educational voyage around the world. Before arrival in New York on June 17, they will have visited Tahiti, New Zealand, Australia, Malaysia, India, Ceylon, Madagascar, Tanzania, Ethiopia, Egypt, Lebanon, Israel, Greece, Italy, Algeria, Morocco and Madeira.

The program offered by the Seven Seas Division of the college provides a unique combination of a full semester of regular college study and the experiences of world travel.

Classes are held six days a week while the ship is traveling between ports of call. Field trips include both general orientation and specialized course excursions in each country visited.

Chapman College, fully accredited by the Western Association of Schools and Colleges, is a private, co-educational, liberal arts institution, founded in 1861, which grants both bachelor's and master's degrees.

kept up demands that Britain invade Rhodesia and crush the white minority regime. The British, who limited their reaction to economic sanctions, are worried that the tensions may burst into a race war.

But, as always, there were prayers and hopes for peace.

Pope Paul VI in his annual Christmas broadcast appealed for peace negotiations in Viet Nam.

In Viet Nam, Francis Cardinal Spellman flew by helicopter to bring Yuletide greetings to troops of the U.S. Army 1st Division.

Throughout South Viet Nam, U.S. troops planned parties for Vietnamese children around their encampments. Americans at home had sent vast stores of toys, clothes and Christmas goodies for the little Vietnamese.

Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam issued a Christmas message expressing "respect and gratefulness" for the sacrifices of the U.S., Australian, New Zealand and Korean forces that have joined the fight against the Viet Cong.

In the quiet hills of the Holy Land, 15,000 Christians were expected to visit Bethlehem, where Christ was born.

In Berlin, thousands of West Berliners passed through the Communist wall to bring Christmas cheer and gifts to relatives in East Berlin.

Outlook For 1966 Good

Weirton Steel Head Says

WEIRTON — "The outlook for 1966 is good," C. G. Tournay, president of the Weirton Steel Co. division of the National Steel Corp., says in his annual year-end economic statement. "We expect the total metal container market to be up about 4 per cent, with strong gains in beer, soft drink and aerosol cans. And in the auto industry continued good business is in prospect," he declared. The steel executive pointed to the vast "Steel Mill of the Future" program launched last year as an indication of Weirton Steel's confidence in the future of West Virginia and the Northern Panhandle in particular. His statement continues: "Auto production has increased each year since 1962, with 1965 the biggest year in the industry's history. In addition, the production of appliances, which has been strong, is expected to continue at about the same level in 1966. "The gross national product could rise as much as $44 billion again next year. That would mark the fifth consecutive year in which our economic activity grew at a rate double what it was when we entered the 1960's. "Capital spending is expected to total close to $57 billion this year, and it is difficult to imagine that there will not be another substantial stepup next year. This is the very life blood of continuing good business, for it preserves existing jobs and creates new ones. "Recently, civilian payrolls in the United States reached the all-time record high of 73 million jobs. And now we must develop useful jobs for all the post-war babies who are moving into the labor force. This calls for almost 10 million new jobs through 1970 — and it will require about $18,000 of invested capital for each new job. "There has been an uninterrupted rise in production since 1959, and this is expected to continue next year. "In general, business conditions are good and promise to remain so at least as far as we can see into next year."

Oregon Bus Mishap Kills 12, Hurts 20

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — A Greyhound bus overturned on an icy highway, killing 12 holiday-bound passengers and injuring 20 other persons late Thursday night.

State police said the bus, bound from Spokane, Wash., to San Francisco, plunged from Interstate 5 between the southern Oregon cities of Grants Pass and Medford.

Nine persons were dead at the scene, state police said. One was dead on arrival at a hospital and two others died later.

Ambulances and emergency vehicles from surrounding communities took the injured to three hospitals in the two cities.

Erving Carew, Greyhound superintendent at Medford, said there were 33 persons on the bus when it left Portland, 250 miles to the north.

Sacred Heart Hospital in Medford reported the driver of the bus, Joseph Bailey of Battle Ground, Wash., was in good condition.

Bailey told state police he was traveling about 45 miles per hour when, without warning, the bus began to skid. He attempted to correct the skid, he said, but the steering did not respond, then the bus went off the highway and rolled over.

State police said the bus flipped completely, going over a ditch and fence, landing on its side about 100 feet from the highway.

Highway conditions were icy when the accident happened and it was raining steadily, police said. Some 40 other accidents were reported in the area during the night, none serious.

Commissioners Opposed

County Reverses Stand On Beer Permit For Inn

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday reversed an earlier decision to approve a D-1 liquor permit application made last week by the proprietor of a North Georgetown Inn.

On Dec. 13, the commissioners approved the permit for Mrs. Mary Peters of Lake Placid, who asked the license as proprietor of the Old Stagecoach Inn.

However, a delegation headed by the Rev. Wesley Runk, pastor of the Lutheran Church in North Georgetown, asked the commissioners to reconsider the decision. The pastor and his group contended the inn was within 500 feet of two churches in the village.

In other action, the commissioners named four county men to three-year terms on the County Regional Planning Commission.

Appointed were Howard Firestone of Salem, representing Perry and Butler Townships; Charles Hinchliffe of Washingtonville, representing Labor; Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville, representing Yellow Creek, Madison, Wayne and Franklin Townships; and Sharon Quigley of East Liverpool, a member-at-large.

The commissioners revised to $7 a day the pay for jurors in Common Pleas Court.

A rate of $5 a day plus five cents a mile for travel expenses had been set by the commissioners as a result of new legislation which granted county commissioners the authority to establish jurors' pay. The rate was the same in effect when judges set the pay. However, it was learned the commissioners did not have the authority to set mileage costs, so the commissioners yesterday increased the pay to make up for the mileage expenses.

A hearing scheduled for Monday on vacating parts of three roads in Middleton Township for a realty development has been postponed because opponents of the action reported an error in road numbers. Petitioners plan to rectify the error.

George Mulz of Homeworth R.D. 1 was granted $6.50 for 13 chickens destroyed by stray dogs.

Think It's Spy Arm Of U.N.

U.S. TV Viewers Want To Enlist In U.N.C.L.E.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — American television viewers are flooding the U.N. with inquiries about U.N.C.L.E. They think it's the espionage arm of the United Nations, and they want to enlist.

In recent months, the U.N.'s General Services Division has been deluged with letters and telephone calls from fans of the popular NBC program "The Man From U.N.C.L.E."

"It's the U.N. in the title that gets them," said Maurice Liu, director of the division. "And when they hear that bit of humor that the show would not have been possible without the help of U.N.C.L.E., they are sure we are tied up with it."

Napoleon Solo and Illya Kuryakin work for the U.N. Command for Law and Enforcement, but the U.N. stands for United Network, not United Nations.

"Most of the applications come from teen-agers," said Liu, "but there are some adults, too, and they are the hardest to convince that we are not running a spy ring."

"One guy was so intent on becoming a secret agent that we finally suggested that he get in touch with Interpol," the International Police organization. "I don't know what they told him."

The queries come in from all over the country.

One youthful applicant from Silver City, N.C., asked if he could join the spy ranks before he was 21. He wanted to know the location of the U.N.C.L.E. branch nearest his hometown.

"We get phone calls also," said Miss Alice V. R. Smith, chief of the public inquiries unit. "Most of them sound like youngsters, but occasionally a voice comes through that is unmistakably adult."

Liu and Miss Smith, working on the assumption that the applicants are sincere, send a courteous reply expressing regret that the United Nations is not acquainted with the activities of U.N.C.L.E. They usually add a discreet suggestion that the inquirer pursue the matter with NBC.

Several days ago the General Services Division got a Christmas card from a female admirer in St. Louis, Mo. It was addressed to the staff of

Pennsy Pike Drivers To Get Free Coffee

HARRISBURG (AP) — Free coffee once again will be available for weary motorists on the Pennsylvania turnpike between 10 p.m. New Year's Eve and 7 a.m. New Year's Day.

Joseph J. Lawler, chairman of the turnpike commission, said Thursday free coffee would be served at all 26 of the restaurants along the cross state toll road.

Lawler also urged extreme caution by all motorists, especially since both Christmas and New Year's fall on Saturdays.

"If you are heading home for Christmas, we want you to arrive safely," he said, urging drivers not to drive too long without rest.

Andrea founded the Fada Co. named for his initials, after World War I, and it was one of the leading manufacturers of radios until he retired in 1932. Later he returned to radio manufacturing and began the Andrea Radio Corp.

3 Students Plan Fast, Prayer For Viet Nam Peace

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Three Roman Catholic students will fast and pray for peace in Viet Nam during an eight-day vigil at St. Paul's Cathedral.

John Robinson of Ohio State University and Charles R. Strain and James McKenzie, both of Duquesne University, will receive only bread and water from 2 p.m. Christmas Day to 2 p.m. on Jan. 1.

Dr. William G. Storey, a Duquesne professor and spokesman for the group, said Thursday "this is a religious demonstration, not a political demonstration."

"No matter what personal views people might have on the justice or injustice of the war," Storey said, "they should still be concerned with the question of peace."

New Marches To Dramatize 'Black Christmas' Protest

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — On the eve of Christmas, Negroes plan new marches in two Mississippi strongholds of the Ku Klux Klan to dramatize their "Black Christmas" protest.

The marches coincide with Christmas - buying boycotts in Natchez and Fayette, 25 miles to the north.

Even as Charles Evers exhorted crowds Thursday night, the Grand Dragon of the United Klans of America swore out an affidavit charging Natchez Police Chief J. T. Robinson with willful neglect of duty.

The segregationist maneuver came after civil rights chiefs ordered a renewed boycott against merchants in Natchez—accusing them of violating a three-week-old treaty on racial differences.

Evers, field director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, scheduled the Christmas Eve march in Fayette to dramatize a boycott similar to one which shackled the economy of Natchez, until it ended Dec. 3.

Sixty state troopers were ordered into the tense rural town to keep order during the demonstration—which Evers said would include 2,000 marchers.

Evers told his followers they must go on the streets of Natchez later in the day unless two policemen involved in a racial flareup Wednesday were fired.

"Don't carry guns, knives or sticks," he said.

The affidavit by Klan Dragon E. L. McDaniel charged Robinson with refusal to arrest persons violating state laws. The specifics of the charges were not learned.

Natchez had been calm since the Dec. 3 agreement until the first fight Wednesday resulted in charges ranging from assault and battery to disturbing the peace.

Evers claimed two officers beat Negroes unnecessarily with their clubs. Officers said Evers complained that Negro policemen hired by the city followed the same practices which led them to accuse white officers of brutality.

Police reported no flareups Thursday, but pickets appeared outside stores in Natchez and Fayette as shoppers crowded the streets to complete last-minute Christmas shopping.

Santa and the Zabbazara Bus

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER 17

The little boy did as he was told. He yelled and screamed and howled.

Presently he stopped and whispered, "Why am I hollering?"

"To make the Voodoo man come back," said Mr. D. "He cast a spell over this room for all who are non-mortals. He is non-mortals. If he comes in he will be caught in the spell."

He put his ear to the door and listened. He heard the Voodoo man hopping back down the corridor. When the Voodoo man was outside the door Mr. D. disguised his voice and said, "See, my power is greater than his. I even kept him from casting a spell over this room!"

THE VOODOO man flung open the door. He stared at Mr. D. and the boy. He peered at the door. There was no X mark there.

"You must make a big noise," he sneered at Mr. D. "You have no power at all. I must have overlooked this room. Thanks for reminding me."

He stepped into the room.

There was a small clap of thunder and a burst of smoke and the Voodoo man was no more. In his place was a crimson carpet. At the edge of the carpet lay a tiny woven ring. "It worked!" cried Mr. D. He has been caught in his own spell!"

He snatched up the woven ring, and he and the boy raced through the palace shouting for Santa and the Princess. They found them in the garden hiding in a golden banana tree.

"Merry Christmas to All!"

The Princess was overjoyed when she heard the news. She put the woven ring on her finger and said, "All the spells cast by the Voodoo man are now broken except the spell he cast over himself."

SANTA said that Mr. D. and the boy would be remembered forever by all of fairyland, because if it had not been for them all good spirits would have vanished from the earth.

The Princess said they should have anything they wished, for she now had the power to grant it.

The little boy said he had no home and he would like to stay in Zabbazara if that were possible.

The Princess said he not only could stay but he could be Prince as well, and have a golden throne beside her own.

Mr. D. said he liked being a bus driver and he loved his old and if we hurry we'll make it just in time!"

"Always ready!" replied Mr. D. grandly.

They went to the beach. The Princess gave them balloons to carry them to the bus. In a few minutes Santa and Mr. D. were sailing high above the sea.

The little boy who was now a Prince waved and shouted, "Merry Christmas!"

Santa and Mr. D. waved back, and Santa cried, "Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas to all!"

Pole And Wires Of Railroad Hit By Early Blaze

A pole and signal wires of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. were destroyed in a fire early this morning in the vicinity of Thompson Pl. and River Rd., firemen reported.

Sparks from a passing freight ignited grass and the fire spread to the pole, the department said.

Firemen needed 200 feet of booster line to reach the scene of the blaze after receiving the alarm at 1:26 a. m.

The department was called to W. 8th St. at 6:25 p. m. when a broken line sprayed gasoline on the hot manifold causing a fire in a car operated by Allen E. Cornell of Grant St., Newell.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS. Since so many ladies and teen-age girls put up their hair (and we want it especially nice tomorrow), let me tell you the proper way to remove those rollers—particularly if your hair is long.

Unroll them the opposite way they were rolled up.

Starting at the neck line unfasten each roller gently, and pull it down towards the shoulder. This will keep the hair from tangling and pulling.

Go around the head from one side to the other, and as each roller is loosened, pull it down again—over the last curl you unrolled.

When you get to the top of the head, undo the one towards the back first—again pulling each one toward the back and down again.

When you first start combing or brushing the curls, do it the same way you remove the rollers—starting at the neck and proceeding upwards.

This will make the hair easier to comb or brush out and will help hold the set in place, in case one or more curls are still slightly damp.

They had the same friends and general interests, so in order to avoid the second letter sounding hastily written, I type a carbon copy of the first page, giving all the news about home to both boys.

The second page I type "for Nicky only" at the top, and proceed with personal remarks to him, then type a "for Charles only" page.

This way, I don't get tired and leave out anything, and I don't put off writing. Also, my attention is dispensed equally to each boy.

This might help other mothers with boys in service.

The Miracle Of Relaxation

When we feel tense and nervously tired, it is next to impossible to experience the heart-warming glow of this blessed season. A reader has written to share his secret of relaxing. This senior citizen writes:

"I figure you are interested in keeping in good health. Needless to say, nervousness is the cause of many of our modern ailments and tension is so often the root of the trouble.

"Many years ago while working with a large hospital staff, one of the doctors asked me, 'Do you find yourself with clenched fists during the night? The next time you have trouble sleeping, or if you want to get up and eat, see if your hands are made into fists, with the nails almost boring into your palms.'

"Sure enough that is exactly what I discovered. I was advised not only to open my hands but to relax all of my body, including my facial muscles, legs, shoulders and arms. I'm writing this hoping many of your readers might get the same relief I did and still do."

How right he is! Tension is today's gremlin. Perhaps no condition of mind or body outranks that of nervous tension as the cause of unhappiness.

LEARNING to relax takes practice. Tension is partly subconscious, and as such is beyond our control. By deliberately tensing the muscles and slowly releasing the tension, conscious control is acquired. Think of this as shifting into power steering. It's not easy, but practice brings a blessed release.

Start with the facial muscles. Deliberately tense your jaw muscles, then let lower jaw sag loosely. Repeat. Wrinkle the forehead, then let the brow smooth out, gently. Hunch your shoulders, then allow them to drop back, rotate your head, loosely, first in one direction, then in the other direction. Ah, your face, neck and shoulders feel relaxed and released. That's a good start.

Go through this practice with each group of muscles, head to toes. Once the relaxing is begun in any group of muscles, nature carries on. You can proceed to relax the next set.

If you have real trouble relaxing, the best present you could give yourself is a record giving this relaxing technique. There is one called "Relax and Live." This is distributed by Speech Art Studios, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N. Y. Happy Holidays!

Stewardess, 25, Crash Survivor, Still In Hospital

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Christmas for Toni Ketchell, a young airline stewardess, comes in a flower-laden hospital room as she recovers from a plane crash that killed 58 people.

Toni, who will be 26 a week from Sunday, is one of four survivors of an American Airlines jet passenger plane which crashed on a hillside near the Greater Cincinnati Airport Nov. 8.

"People have been wonderful," she mused in her flower-laden hospital room which is lined with hundreds of Christmas cards—most of them from complete strangers.

Toni will be in the hospital for a long time yet but her spirit is high. She sat up for the first time only last Monday, a feat doctors had not expected so soon.

Meanwhile, she is working on her fifth scrapbook of letters and cards.

Little Potter Coaches Will Meet Monday

Coaches of Little Potter League teams in both divisions are requested to attend a meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at the Travelers Hotel.

Last March before losing an 87-85 thriller to Michigan.

So far this season the Commodores, No. 4 in The Associated Press poll, have been winning the close ones, always the mark of a champion.

They made it eight victories in eight starts with a 59-58 squeaker over Northwestern at Evanston, Ill., Thursday night. Sophomore Bo Wyanand sank a free throw with 10 seconds left for the winning point.

The second-ranked St. Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia dropped their second straight on their invasion of the Rocky Mountain area, losing to Wyoming 99-92 at Laramie, Wyo.

The sixth-ranked Minnesota Gophers were knocked out of the unbeaten class by Utah State 97-72 at Logan, Utah, but unbeaten Bradley, No. 5 in the AP poll, made it 10 in a row with an 83-68 romp over North Dakota at Peoria, Ill. The other teams in the AP Top Ten were idle.

Unbeaten Utah made it seven straight with a 108-57 breeze over the Air Force Academy at Salt Lake City and Colorado State U. rebounded from its first defeat at the hands of Seattle to whip Idaho State 95-72 at Fort Collins, Colo.

Kansas also rebounded from its two defeats by UCLA and Southern California last week in Los Angeles to whip Ohio State 81-68 at Columbus, Ohio.

Stanford and San Francisco scored home-court victories over Louisiana State 91-69 and St. Louis 87-69, respectively. Butler, which trounced Michigan on Wednesday, rallied to edge Oklahoma 65-63 at Indianapolis.

Santa Clara nipped California 75-73 at Berkeley while Tulsa took the St. Mary's Gaels in San Francisco 82-60 and U. of Pacific scored a 69-62 road triumph over Portland in other games before the start of a three-day slack period for the Christmas holiday.

Northwestern took an early 10-point lead over Vandy, but the Commodores, paced by Keith Thomas' 16 points and Clyde Lee's 14, rallied to tie 35-35 at the half. Vandy led 58-56, but Northwestern's Ron Kozlicki tied the score again with 20 seconds left before Wyanand swished through the winning point from the foul line.

49ers' Brodie Is Comeback Player Of '65

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"Credit the whole team, not just me," declared San Francisco quarterback John Brodie, the man voted Comeback Player of the Year in the National Football League.

The 30-year-old forward passing ace added he was "pleased but surprised" at the honor accorded by The Associated Press.

Actually, Brodie's comeback started last year. After the 1962 season, he suffered a broken arm in an automobile accident and missed 11 games in 1963 when the arm was rebroken early in the season.

Although the 49ers finished last in the Western Division in 1964, Brodie hit 193 passes in 391 throws for 2,498 yards and 14 touchdowns. Both the number of throws and number of completions were team records.

This past season he completed 242, a league record, of 391 for 3,112 yards and 30 touchdowns. "I had great protection," the 10-year pro veteran said. "Just look at the record. At one stretch I was thrown for a loss just once in four games."

The 49ers posted a 7-6-1 record, finishing fourth. When the Green Bay Packers and Baltimore Colts clash on Sunday for the division title, the game might be a tribute to the 49er quarterback.

Last Sunday he completed 26 of 34 throws for a tremendous 76.5 percentage and three touchdowns as the 49ers battled Green Bay to a 24-24 tie and deadlocked the Packers and Colts in the regular season standings.

In that one, the Green Bay defenders tossed him just once for a loss of two yards.

Although he had George Mira in the wings awaiting a chance, Coach Jack Christiansen said at the season's start that Brodie was his quarterback, and the former Stanford star gave him some tremendous performances.

Tommy McDonald, flanker for Los Angeles, was second to Brodie in the balloting by 42 newsmen in the NFL cities. Brodie had 12 votes and McDonald seven. John David Crow of San Francisco and Rudy Bukich of Chicago each had four.

As Appetizers For New Year's Games

North-South, Blue-Gray Slated On Christmas Day

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
A couple of all-star games, showcases for some of the nation's top individual collegiate football talent, serve as appetizers Saturday, Christmas Day, for next week's major bowl games.

Six All-Americans will be in action, three on each side, when the North plays the South in Miami. The other is the Blue-Gray, matching seniors from above and below the Mason-Dixon line, in Montgomery, Ala. Both games are Christmas afternoon.

Each is scheduled for national television. ABC will handle the North-South, with kickoff set for 4:30 p.m. EST. CBS has the Blue-Gray game, with kickoff at 4 p.m. EST.

Those should serve to whet the nation's television appetite for the following week's main course, including the Rose, Cotton, Sugar, Orange and Gator Bowls.

Here's the line-up (all times Eastern Standard):

Friday, New Year's Eve
Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. — Georgia Tech, 6-3-1, vs. Texas Tech, 8-2, 2 p.m.
Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. — Texas Western, 7-3, vs. Texas Christian, 6-4, 4 p.m.
East-West All-Star at San Francisco, 4:45 p.m.

Saturday, New Year's Day
Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif. — Michigan State, 10-0, vs. UCLA, 7-2-1, 5 p.m.
Cotton Bowl at Dallas — Arkansas, 10-0, vs. Louisiana State, 7-3, 2 p.m.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans — Missouri, 7-2-1, vs. Florida, 7-3, 2 p.m.
Orange Bowl at Miami — Nebraska, 10-0, vs. Alabama, 8-1-1, 8 p.m.

The North-South Shrine Game always has been a wide-open, free-scoring affair built on gambling, explosive offenses. And the 18th annual game in Miami Christmas Day shapes up as another in the series.

Playing a key role in such a forecast is the presence on the South's team of Bill Anderson and Howard Twilley, the combination that broke all the passing and receiving records at Tulsa this past season.

The South is coached by Tulsa's Glenn Dobbs, who also will have running back Rodger Bird of Kentucky and wingback George Pearce of William and Mary in the offensive line-up.

He also has two fierce linebackers, Tommy Nobis of Texas and Ed Weisacosky of Miami. Nobis, Weisacosky and Twilley were All-America choices.

North Coach Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame counters with two All-Americans from his own team, guard Dick Arrington and defensive halfback Nick Rassas, and Purdue tackle Karl Singer.

He will open with either Ken Lucas of Pittsburgh or Don Unverferth of Ohio State at quarterback. Sam Price of Illinois will be at half, Dave McNaughton of Penn State at full and Jim Todd of Ball State at wing-back.

The South leads in the series 10-6, with two ties. The North won last year's game 37-30 on a touchdown pass by Notre Dame's Jack Snow in the last five seconds.

At Montgomery, Negroes will be in the line-up for the first time in the 26 year history of the game. The North has defensive linemen Jim Long of Purdue and Bill Briggs of Iowa, while the South has halfback Eugene Thomas of Florida A&M and defensive tackle Johnny Holmes, also of Florida A&M.

Gray Coach Bill Elias of Navy will be counting heavily on Little All-America quarterback Randy Johnson, while Blue Coach Jack Mollenkott of Purdue looks to Fred Custardo of Illinois and Sonny Stowers of Army for much of his offensive punch.

The Southern all-stars have won 15 and lost 11 in the series.

Athletic League Will Be Formed

MIAMISBURG, Ohio (AP)—Miami High School officials announced today a new Class AA athletic league is being formed and that the school here plans to join it.

The league yet unnamed, the officials said, will be ready for full participation by a number of schools in the 1968-69 season. Miami plans to drop out of the Miami Valley League, it was explained.

Other schools which have expressed an interest in the new league are Hamilton Taft, Hamilton Garfield, and Middletown, all of the Greater Ohio League; Fairfield and Princeton, they reported.

Plans include the membership of Middletown which would split into two separate schools.

Dick Kenney of Michigan State set a Big 10 mark this season when he kicked a 47-yard field goal against Illinois.

In this joyous season we wish the best to one and all.

Svare Is Bounced As Coach Of Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Christmas in reverse came early for young Harland Svare and today the Los Angeles Rams were looking for their eighth head coach since 1947.

President Daniel F. Reeves, expressing personal regret, said Svare's contract would not be renewed for 1966 with the Western cellar dweller in the National Football League.

The announcement, not entirely unexpected, was made Thursday, and promptly triggered the usual speculations on a successor to Svare.

There have been recurring rumors that John McKay of the University of Southern California is under consideration. Whether McKay is considering the matter is not known.

McKay, be it known, was never a man to duck a challenge.

Adding much spice to the talk was this:

Halfback Mike Garrett, a McKay product, All-America and Heisman Trophy winner, is the No. 1 draft choice of the Rams. Garrett has not signed with the Rams nor the Kansas City Chiefs, who hold draft rights in the American Football League.

A so-called package deal involving McKay and Garrett, whom McKay calls the greatest football player he ever saw, is not an unreasonable conjecture.

Svare, handsome 35-year-old bachelor, issued a statement through Jack Teele, the Rams publicity director and a close personal friend.

In effect, Svare noted the philosophy of the pros, football or baseball: It isn't how you coach, but if you win.

In the Rams' case, it has been lose and lose and lose for more than a decade.

A prepared statement from Reeves read:

"It has been decided not to renew Harland Svare's contract for the 1966 season.

"We have several persons in mind as a possible replacement but no definite decision has been reached. It would be premature to disclose the names of these persons.

"The decision to replace Harland was a most difficult one.

"While there were many mitigating circumstances causing the Rams' losing record, it is felt that a fresh approach is necessary."

For the record, it may be noted that there was a warm personal relation between Svare and Reeves, the majority stockholder of the club.

Svare dictated a statement, relayed by Teele, which said:

"I'm very disappointed that we couldn't have won more football games. I have no regrets about the experience. I thoroughly enjoyed it.

"I thought we made some progress, but it's the nature of professional football that you must win.

"I have the highest respect for Dan Reeves and the Rams' organization, and I want to wish the team success.

"I don't think it will be too much longer before the Rams become a winner."

1965 Season Was Most Enjoyable, Brown Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Brown, fullback for the National Football League champion Cleveland Browns, says this season has been "my most enjoyable" in professional football.

Brown, who was named the NFL's most valuable player in an Associated Press Poll, said Thursday night there were a number of reasons for his picking the 1965 season as his most enjoyable.

"Communication was one thing," he said. "It's been so good with the owner, the coaches and the other players. . . it's just a real good, friendly atmosphere."

Packer Tackle To Spend Christmas Hating Colts

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay Packer tackle Henry Jordan won't be coming out to play with the kids on the day after Christmas. He'll be busy elsewhere with Jim Parker and the Baltimore Colts.

And Olive, Henry's pretty wife, won't be the hostess at the usual Christmas Day party at the Jordan home.

She'll be visiting friends with the Jordan's three children leaving Henry most of Christmas afternoon and evening to relax alone undisturbed by the din of toys and the squalls of holiday-tired children.

Jordan, so gentle he's afraid to let his 7-year-old son play football, will be slowly slipping back into the role of one of the National Football League's most fierce defenders.

"We'll get sentimental on the 27th," said the 30-year-old Jordan. That's the day after the

"There was another thing, too. This season I had a chance to catch passes. . . this year I was running patterns and I enjoyed it. I believe it helped us in some games, too."

Brown, who is completing his ninth season in pro football, said he is in "real good shape."

Coach Blanton Collier called 1965 one of Brown's greatest seasons.

Brown has won the league rushing title in eight of his nine seasons. He has scored 126 touchdowns, gained 12,312 yards and carried the ball 2,359 times—all league records.

Packers play the Colts for the NFL's Western Conference championship. "Then on the 28th I'm hoping we'll be hating the Browns."

The winner of Sunday's game meets Cleveland Jan. 2 for the league title.

The tension has been building in the Jordan household.

"I have nightmares over Jim Parker (the Colts' all-pro guard)," Jordan said. "He's the one I have to play against. We were on the All-Star team together and we're good friends, but on Sunday we're meeting each other and you want to do your best to beat him and he wants to do his best to beat you."

Jordan couldn't turn Scrooge in the face of a 100 Parkers. Neighborhood kids actually come to the Jordan door and ask: "Can Henry come out to play today?"

Tulane Names Texas Coach To Grid Post

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jim Pittman, chosen for the monumental task of rejuvenating Tulane's slumping football fortunes, faces his job with a simple statement.

It might turn out to be the biggest understatement that Pittman, an articulate, 40-year-old Mississippi native, ever made.

Tulane announced Thursday that Pittman, chief assistant under Darrell Royal at Texas, would become head coach immediately with a five-year pact.

"I'm really looking forward to the job with lots of enthusiasm," Pittman said at his Austin, Tex., home. "I think it is quite a challenge and I'm ready to accept it."

Pittman, a Mississippi State graduate who has worked for Royal 13 years at Mississippi State, Washington and Texas, succeeds Tommy O'Boyle, who resigned under fire Nov. 24 with one year left on his five year contract.

O'Boyle left on the heels of a 62-0 rout by Louisiana State, Tulane's arch-rival. He had become head coach four years earlier after his predecessor, former Notre Dame All-American Andy Pilney, had been conquered 62-0 by LSU. In the interval, O'Boyle won six games, losing 33 and tying one. The Greenies were 2-8 this past campaign.

Reward For Murder Will Be Withdrawn

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The $1,035 reward fund for solving the murder of an elderly widow will be withdrawn in a few days.

Police say no one has come forward with a clue to the slayer of Mrs. Minta Ethel Strayer, 73, who was stabbed 35 times at her home last Christmas Eve. Councilman Mark Petty, who started the fund with a $25 contribution, indicated Thursday the money will be returned to contributors after Jan. 1.

No Evidence Of Attack In Case Of Woman

BATAVIA, Ohio (AP)—The Clermont County Sheriff's Department says there is no evidence anyone attacked Mrs. Lottie Williamson, 74, who apparently lay overnight on the floor of her home at nearby Afton.

Mrs. Williamson was found by a neighbor Thursday and is recovering at a hospital in Mariemont. She apparently fell and struck her head, authorities said.

THE OTHER DAY

AL GREEN

A friend was talking about Christmas, how it is celebrated in every free country of the world, with slightly varying customs, but that basically it is a time which generates peace in men of good will wherever they are. How right he is... it has often caused a truce between bitter foes on the battlefield, as though men were pausing in his destruction to acknowledge that he see that other men are not really his enemy. Our friend said that perhaps nations, or even groups, cannot find the answers; that they can be found only by each individual by himself. We read something that might help us keep such an idea in mind; it's thought worth repeating quite frequently, silently to ourselves: "Be kind, for everyone you meet is fighting a hard battle." A permanent spirit of good will, given out all year long, cannot get back anything but more good will, ever growing, and enduring as long as the giving lasts, which can be a whole lifetime. To you, our heartfelt good wishes!

Junior Editors Quiz on HAIR

QUESTION: How does hair grow?

ANSWER: Hair is a useful covering for many animals, keeping them warm in cold weather. Animals are frequently equipped with small skin muscles which can be used to make the hair stand out, so it keeps them warmer still. Even if we humans have so little hair, we do have the same skin muscles. When our skin is cold, they may contract in little lumps—which are often called "goose pimples" or "goose bumps." At the upper left, we show the important part under the skin which causes a hair to grow. The follicle is a kind of sack inside of which a hair grows. An artery provides nourishment at the bottom and the hair grows by new cells forming at this root. As these die, they form a rod or shaft which is pushed upward by new cells forming underneath. Fat glands supply an oil called "sebum," which keeps hair soft and in good shape. A human hair may grow about 6 inches a year. This keeps up from 2 to 6 years, but after that nourishment will stop coming to the root and the hair will fall out. Then it will be replaced by a new one. As new cells form at the root of a hair, they are given color by the addition of the pigment "melanin." As a person becomes older, this pigment is no longer added and the hair turns gray.

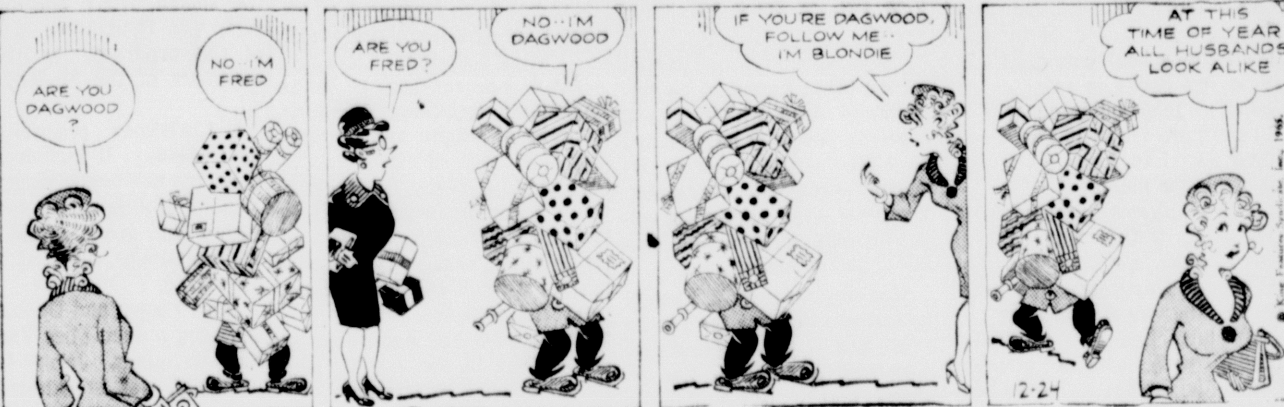

FOR YOU TO DO: Hester, in the picture is taking care of her hair by giving it a good daily brushing. This removes dirt and adds luster. Her cat has the same idea. Try this out for yourself.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: If I read one more letter from a girl who complains because she has nothing to put in her brassiere I think I will scream. My problem is just the opposite and believe me I gladly would change places with any of those "Flat Florences."

I've had this problem ever since I was 13. I used to walk down the school corridors carrying my books in front of me—and slouch-shouldered at that. By the time I was 16 I wouldn't have dared to wear a sweater or a blouse cut on the bias.

It was almost impossible to find a dress that would fit. It was always four sizes too tight on top or three sizes too large across the waist and hips.

My bras had to be custom-made, with special padding under the straps—and even then the straps dug into my shoulders and caused a great deal of discomfort. In addition to the physical discomfort, I'm the target for cheap jokes.

I hope you will publish this letter, Ann. It may silence the moaners and groaners who feel inferior because they are under-endowed. Thank you. —BIG BERTHA (MY HIGH SCHOOL NICKNAME).

If you haven't discussed this problem with your physician, you should do so. There is help for you. Meantime, I hope your letter will help to bring our dimension-wacky readers to their senses.

Former Patient
Dear Ann: Recently you printed a strong letter about mental hospitals. Now, if you have the nerve, please print something about the way former mental patients are treated when they try to obtain employment.

I was never violent, dangerous or destructive. My problem was severe depression. Periodically I'd lose interest in everything. I had no desire to get out of bed.

After two years of therapy I was a changed person. I left the hospital eager to face the world. After four unsuccessful interviews (during which I told the truth regarding my whereabouts for the preceding two years) I began to catch on. Nobody wanted to take a chance on an "ex-nut."

I decided to omit that part of my history and was hired on my fifth try. The moral of this story is this: If you've ever served time in a mental hospital, or even had an appointment with a psychiatrist, forget to mention it when you go looking for a job. —SINS OF OMISSION.

Dear Sins: I know of no employment form which asks if a person has been hospitalized in a mental institution or received psychiatric treatment. I see no good reason to volunteer this information during a job interview.

Speaking for myself, I would be inclined to favor the person who had some psychiatric orientation because of the insights and understanding he could bring to the job.

Ring Off
Dear Ann: My boy friend gave me a ring for my 20th birthday. We planned to be married next year.

Last week he told me I could keep the ring as a souvenir but he wanted out. He said he preferred not to tell me the reason but I finally got it out of him. It's my mother.

He says he just can't stand her because she is so nosy and talks all the time. According to him, we never would be able to lead our own lives and he would rather not get into this kind of family.

These past few months I caught him in a few lies and wondered if maybe he wasn't seeing another girl. I'm so confused I don't know what to think. I feel now that I must choose between my mother and my fiancé. I believe if I promised to keep my mother away from us he would go through with the plans. What shall I do? —HALF CRAZY.

Dear Half: If a boy says he doesn't want to marry you, what difference does the reason make? This character sounds flakey. My advice is to give him his ring and tell him to buzz off.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Blessings of the Season

Look into the eyes of a child as he relates the Christmas story, and there will be revealed for you the meaning of the season.

It is the awe of the Shepherds when their lonely vigil was broken by a brilliant star pointing the way to Bethlehem. It is the anticipation that seized those men of old as they made their way toward the city and the manger. It is the splendor of the Kings who came from afar bearing gifts for the newborn child.

And it is, above all, the promise born that night so long ago, a promise that 20 centuries have failed to dim.

This is the message of Christmas... a message of hope for mankind. And it is too often lost sight of in our workaday world, misplaced somewhere amid our preoccupations.

Yet, it is not really lost. We can find it during this holy season if we will but look into the eyes of a child.
